

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
APRIL 8, 2010

Full Circle Farm Expands Its Service to Pierce County

Pioneering “Farm-to-Table” Food Company Broadens Washington Reach Bringing Organic Produce and Artisan Goods to Pierce County Consumers

CARNATION, WA (April 8, 2010) – Full Circle Farm, a regional organic farm and leading organic produce and artisan food provider, today announced it is expanding its service to include Pierce County. Full Circle Farm will bring fresh, organic produce and artisan goods to convenient pick-up locations throughout Gig Harbor, Graham, Lakewood, Puyallup, and Tacoma.

“We are excited to expand our business and provide nutritious food to more people throughout the Northwest,” said Andrew Stout, Full Circle’s founder and owner. “Communities in Pierce County will now have fresh, organic produce delivered to their neighborhoods with the added convenience of customizing each box to their specific needs and directly connecting them to the people who grow their food.”

Full Circle subscribers in Pierce County can schedule weekly or every-other week deliveries to one of 11 different pick-up sites close to home or work. More drop sites are on their way. Through the Full Circle website (www.fullcirclefarm.com) customers are provided with a selection of fresh produce items that they can accept as is, or customize to their specific preferences. Additionally, customers can add organic and artisan grocery items from local partners such as The Essential Baking Company, Mt. Townsend Creamery, Fresh Breeze Dairy, Quillisascut Cheese Company, Theo Chocolate Company, Grounds for Change (coffee), Choice Organic Teas, Blue Bird Grains and Moon Valley Honey.

“Our farm boxes provide a wider selection of organic produce and artisan goods, offer the option to fully customize your box, and bring farm-to-table values directly to your neighborhood year-round,” stated Stout.

In November, Full Circle expanded its farming operations with the purchase of 72 acres of historic Sammamish Valley farmland preserved by King County’s Farmland Preservation Program; with this addition, Full Circle now grows more 200 varieties of produce on 400 acres of farmland.

About Full Circle Farms

Established in 1996 by Andrew Stout and Wendy Munroe, Full Circle Farm is a fast-growing Pacific Northwest company and national leader of the good food movement. Full Circle provides healthy and organically grown food -- including growing more than 125 varieties of certified organic, fruits, vegetables and herbs -- to a broad base of retail and commercial customers throughout Western Washington and across Alaska. For information visit: www.fullcirclefarm.com.

# #

For More Information Contact:

Kirsten Mabry

(415) 370-7763

Kirsten@brothertonstrategies.com